Operation Boost To Combat Anti-War Demonstrations

All citizens who want to show support of their government's military efforts in South Vietnam have been asked to take part in "Operation Boost" on Veteran's Day, November 11, by Commander Chester C. White of Post 4551, the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"Operation Boost" is a nationwide project sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars as a counter-measure to demonstrations against America's participation in the Vietnamese war. Citizens are being asked to take part in patriotic demonstrations such as Veterans Day parades and public meetings. The V.F.W. has also suggested that each individual stop whatever he is doing at 11:00 a.m. and offer a silent prayer for American soldiers now fighting in Vietnam.

Commander-in-Chief Andy Borg, who is now touring the Southeast Asia battle ground, said it is vitally important for Americans everywhere to make it clear that demonstrators against the nation's Vietnam policy represent only a small minority of our population.

"A mass show of support such as 'Operation Boost' is necessary for two reasons," he said. "First, the Communist enemy has come to believe that they can win their victory over the freedom-loving people of Vietnam because the American people no longer support their own government. Second, while our soldiers are still performing their military duties magnificently, they are becoming disgusted and embittered at the failure of some American citizens to support them in their fight for freedom."

The history of Grass Lake School is back in the brick an mortar near the front entrance of the school.

It was necessary to replace a section beside the front door recently because water seeping in had caused crumbling. Workmen discovered a "time capsule" that had been inserted during construction of the school in 1947.

The history of the school up to that time had been typed and sealed in a quart jar. Superintendent John P. Schockmel said that additional information was added to bring the history up to date and a list of the present students, board members and staff also added.

The contents of the former container plus the new information were put in a steel box, enclosed in plastic and embedded in the new work.

Members of the board of Grass Lake School were present last week to replace an updated history of the school in a cornerstone. Left to right, Board members Earl Beese and Charlotte Queen, workman Bill Young, contractor Homer LaPlant, Superintendent John Schockmel and board member Charles Smith.

Record Collection

Patrolman Emil Ehnert reports that this was the quietest Halloween, so far as vandalism goes, that he has seen in his years on the force in Antioch.

"The kids were all real good," he said. "There wasn't even much pumpkin-throwing."

Hordes of trick or treaters raged the streets Sunday picking up goodies.

Mr. and Mrs. John Laude reported that the little trick or treaters who collected for UNICEF turned in a record $176 for the fund. Eighty children, about 20 more than in previous years, knocked on doors from 2:15 p.m. to 3:15 p.m., asking for money to be passed on to underprivileged children around the world. About 15 adults aided the cause by escorting younger children, counting money, etc.

Board Considers Alley Improvement

Superintendent Albert Dittman and several members of the Antioch High School board appeared at the meeting of the village board Tuesday night to ask that the village take steps to open and improve the eighteen-foot dedicated alley south of the High School.

The public alleyway was dedicated some years ago by Dr. George Jensen, and joins the high school driveway on the south edge of the school property.

Improvement would involve removing a fence and signs, cleaning up, replacing of utility poles, graveling and seal coat.

Mayor Ray Toft pointed out that the "hands of the board were tied," so far as spending public funds for the improvement. The alley would primarily serve the adjacent businesses, he said, and under present ordinances would have been improved by the owners before being accepted by the village. However, Toft said, the alley is an eyesore in its present condition and the village could contribute the labor to help clean the ground up.

High school board members said they also could not spend school funds to improve property which did not belong to the school.

A special assessment to be paid by the owners of businesses adjoining the alleys to pay actual costs of gravel, oil, etc., was suggested by Mayor Toft.

Owners of businesses adjoining the alley also were present at the meeting, and Toft asked their feelings on the subject. Mrs. Cliff Randall, he said, though not present, had told him she approved of the project. The Randalls operate the Laundromat.

Mrs. Ray Bollen said the business owners were not particularly concerned with the improvement of the alley, though she felt it should be cleaned up. The high school, she said, would benefit most, and she thought they should contribute financial support.

The owners of the Sunset Motel declared they would prefer that the alley not be opened, as it would bring a heavier flow of traffic.

The discussion ended with the village board and the high school board in agreement that the alley should be improved and Mayor Toft said further meetings would be held with property owners to work out a method of financing.

APPROVE SUBDIVISIONS

The Planning Commission recommended that the tentative plans for the Westgate subdivision be accepted, after some hesitation because of cul de sacs. Chairman Robert Wilton said the subdivision ordinance limited the length of cul de sac roads and he would like more time to study the plans. Bernard and Boyd Osmond objected that he had already had two weeks, and said they would like to proceed. The board approved the plans on the recommendation of the Planning Commission.

Approval was also given to the plans for Sequoia Terrace subdivision.

The board approved final payment of $7,899.20 to Lakeland Construction for work on Spafford St.

Edgar Simonsen announced that everything was ready to proceed with the well building. If all goes well, he said, the well should be ready to start pumping within a week or so.

Chairman Arthur Meierdick of the police committee announced that because of the rise in vandalism at night, Patrolman Art Wertz would be shifted to night duty, so that an extra policeman would be patrolling during the night.

Mayor Toft signed a proclamation, approved by the board, asking that Operation Boost be observed by the people of Antioch on November 11. The observance is being sponsored by the local VFW Post, and is intended to declare the support of all Americans of our fighting men abroad.

New Rates For Illinois Bell Customers

Many telephone customers in the Antioch area will realize reduced rates as a result of an Illinois Bell Telephone proposal filed November 1 with the Illinois Commerce Commission, according to Jerry Babb, local manager. If approved, it will go into effect December 1.

The proposal would eliminate mileage charges now being paid by one- and two-party telephone customers living outside Antioch. Customers would pay a flat monthly fee which in most cases would be lower, and in no case higher than the current mileage-plus-basic service charge.

New flat rates proposed in Antioch would be $5.95 for one-party customers and $5.05 for two-party lines. Present charges are $4.15 for one-party and $3.50 for two-party service, to which mileage charges are added.

"Telephone customers in the rural area will receive a further reduction soon when urban service is extended to cover all subscribers served by Illinois-Bell's Antioch office," Babb added. "When this happens, rural customers will be able to have one- and two-party service at the same price paid by customers living in Antioch."

"We had scheduled this improvement for December," Babb added, "but the cable needed to provide the service was among thousands of tons of equipment which had to be diverted to Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida to restore service to some 520,000 phones which were knocked out by Hurricane Betsy last September 9. The cost of the storm to the Bell System is about $16 million. The cable and other supplies were brought to relieve the stricken area from Bell System companies throughout the United States."

"Antioch customers affected by this change were notified by mail on October 11," Babb said. "We've placed another order for cable, but we'll have to wait now until it is manufactured."

In another facet of the filing, the company also proposed simplified pricing and rate adjustments for some subscribers having two or more lines with "key" or button telephone systems, used to hold one line while another is picked up. This would affect key telephone system subscribers through the offer of three basic "Com-Pak" service packages, each of which would carry a single monthly charge.

Babb explained that more than half the 100,000 key telephone system customers in Illinois would realize the reductions. Another 40,000 customers would realize no change in price, and there would be minor increases for about 2,000 customers.

These proposals complete a three-part rate reduction program, agreed to earlier this year between the telephone company and the Illinois Commerce Commission, Babb said. Other reductions included new within-state long distance rates which became effective June 10, and optional services for wider area toll-free calling (Call-Pac) in Antioch and other towns in the Chicago Metropolitan Area, which went into effect August 1.

Overseas Xmas Packages Must Be Mailed By Nov. 10

What do overseas GI's want for Christmas? ... and, how do you pack them and when do you mail them to assure delivery in time for the holidays?

The Red Cross and the post office got together recently to supply answers for area folks who have loved ones in the service who won't be home for Christmas.

Red Cross overseas field directors, stationed with American troops in all parts of the world, have been asking questions, and their answers provide a useful guide to families here at home.

Homemade things, things that represent the family, the old school, and the home town, received unanimous approval of servicemen as their most wanted gifts. Home made cakes, cookies, candy, recorded messages in the voices of the family; copies of the home town newspaper or the school paper; hand made sweaters; and pictures of the folks at home, got the most votes.

But nothing is sadder than getting a boxful of cookie crumbs. If you send cookies or cake, the post office says be sure they are properly wrapped and packed, and be sure you mail them on time.

Cookies, cakes, and candies should be packed in sealed metal containers, such as coffee tins or a fruit cake tin. Each cookie or piece of candy must be individually wrapped in foil, and they must be tightly packed. If there is any room inside the container for items to jiggle around, pack the empty spaces with tightly crumpled or pleated newspaper, or fill them with popcorn, which is an excellent cushioning material.

The inner container, then, must be packed securely in a wood, metal, or heavy duty corrugated cardboard shipping box. Again, all air spaces must be filled with newspaper or popcorn, to cushion the entire package. The outer package must, then, be wrapped in heavy kraft paper (not leftover grocery bags, but new wrapping paper, and sealed with gummed tape. Around the total package, tie securely with heavy duty shipping twine—not ordinary "kite string."

Just in case the paper wrapping should tear or get damaged, the post office recommends that a separate mailing label be affixed to the inner package. Use only mailing labels of the type approved by the post office.

A few cents spent at a local variety store for the right kind of paper, gummed tape, twine, and mailing labels would be a wise investment, postal officials advise.

For overseas packages to arrive in time for Christmas, they must be mailed before November 10. Mail destined for men in isolated areas, especially Viet Nam and southeast Asia should be mailed as soon as possible.

Teacher Visitation Day Is Success
Antioch High School's teacher visitation day was deemed so successful that the high school administration is already considering the possibility of additional visitation days in the future.

Superintendent Albert Dittman said teachers came back enthusiastically discussing new ideas on innovations they had seen. Reports from teachers will be discussed in departmental and administrative meetings.

Purchase New Church Site

The Rev. Glendon Stroud, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, at Fox Lake, has announced that a site for a new church at the corner of Grand Ave. and Hawthorne Lane in Fox Lake has been purchased from Kenneth Hamsher, funeral director.

The present location of the church is at the corner of Sixth and Rowe Sts. in Wildwood subdivision. The building was formerly a home, two story frame house which the congregation remodeled.

Site for the new church is a 190 foot by 208 foot piece of ground. Pastor Stroud said they hope to start construction this fall. The present church, he said, will be sold, and is still suitable for a home with some remodeling.

A 24 foot by 60 foot church will be constructed on the new site, using plans used for the Church of the Nazarene at St. Charles. It will be of two-story construction, with the church proper on the main floor. The basement section, which will be partly above ground, will house Sunday school rooms.

A contractor for the new construction, Stroud said, has not yet been hired. The new building will be designed so that additions can be easily made.

A vast number of emotions were experienced by the audience viewing Dark of the Moon at the PM&L Theatre last weekend. At times the theatre echoed with laughter, and at other times a tenseness and near sense of horror swept the audience. The general opinion was that it was a most unusual play and that the performance was near professional. A comment from an out-of-state visitor, who is active in summer stock work, was that it was exciting and excellent.

The actors lived their parts in a most startling manner. Ken Jandula, The Witch Boy, was a most convincing mixture of human and witch as he turned out a remarkable acting job in his first leading role with PM&L. Charlotte Worswick, in the leading role of Barbara Allen, was charming, triumphant, pitied, and finally mourned.

The Conjurer Man and Conjur Woman, Bob Kocmoud and Valerie Hunley, played their ugly, hideous, crafty, and scheming roles to perfection. The Witch Girls, Sandy Drucker and Linnea Christensen, were seductive and beautiful, but just as crafty and scheming in their efforts to regain the love of the Witch Boy.

Carol Anderson, in the role of Mrs. Allen, and Don Beyers, as Mr. Allen, did excellent work, which varied from humor to pathos. Other outstanding work was performed by Homer LaPlant as Uncle Simelieue. (Incidentally, this represents a new first for PM&L—Homer sings!). Garnet Odds, as Miss Metcalf, Marie Jasen as Edna Summey, Rich Irmen as Hank Guder, Jane Vallumstad as Mrs. Summey, Joyce Maj as Mrs. Bergen, Wes Camp as Mr. Atkins, all turned in very creditable work in supporting roles.

Two truly excellent performances were given by Bob Thomson as Marvin Huggins, the rival for the hand of Barbara Allen and by Joe Hunley in the role of the "hell-fire and damnation" spouting Preaching Hagler. It will be a memorable night of living theatre for those who will attend the closing performances of Dark of the Moon at the PM&L Theatre this Friday and Saturday. Tickets may be reserved by phoning Vivian Maplethorpe at 395-3613, or at the box office.

The art exhibit in the lobby has been arranged through the courtesy of the Antioch Art Guild.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Scriptural readings on Adam and Eve and Cain and Abel are examined in Christian Science church services this week. The subject is "Adam and Fallen Man."

The Golden Text is from Ecclesiastes: "Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions."

A theme of redemption is brought out in some passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook: "The divine nature was best expressed in Christ Jesus, who threw upon mortals the truer reflection of God and lifted their lives higher than their poor thought-models would allow,—thoughts which presented man as fallen, sick, sinning, and dying" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 259).

History Tells of 1st Grass Lake School—100 Years Ago

The addition of Grass Lake School are nearing completion. Superintendent John P. Schockel said they are hoping that the work will be done by Christmas.

The gym, the first one Grass Lake School has had, is at the northwest corner of the present school, jutting out toward the road. The four classrooms, an additional room at the entrance and the new washrooms are on the east end of the building.

The walls are up and though the glass is not yet in the windows, the beauty of the view from each room can be seen. The school stands on a hill, with open country and woods surrounding it. At this time of year, the new classroom windows will look out on an unbroken vista of fall countryside, open fields with brilliantly-colored woods in the background.

Some recent repair work on a section of the school building uncovered a jar containing the history of the school up to 1947, compiled by Clara Haling. The first schoolhouse on the present site was built in 1869, a frame building of one room. However, the first school in the area was established in 1865 and was at the bend of Grass Lake road near Bluff Lake Road.

The teacher in this first school was Addie Rector. In the years that followed some of the teachers were Bob and Hurl Grice, Maggie Gaggin Feller and Jessie Call Ramaker.

These early teachers received a salary of $18 per month and boarded at various homes in the neighborhood. The schoolhouse served as a community room and Sunday school classes and funeral services were held there.

A new one-room school was built in 1912. At that time, school was held two or three months in the winter and two or three months in the summer. In the summer months, the pupils were mostly small children because the older ones had to work on the farms. There were no grades. Many of the pupils were older than students now are, because of the shortness of the sessions. Some even attended after marriage.

There was no water on the school grounds in those days. Water was carried from nearby homes, and a dipper was always handy for thirsty students. No one worried about germs.

An early director of the school, Barney Trieger, served in that capacity for 35 years. His wife, Bessie, was one of the early teachers.

The first electric lights were installed in the school about 1921. The money was raised by a basket social.

Many of the improvements that followed were brought about by the PTA. Mrs. McCorkle was the first president of the organization.

In 1938, all requirements were met for a Superior School.

Before the 1947 school was built, the school had become too small for the population and school was held in two shifts, younger children in the morning and older ones in the afternoon.

Additional land for the school was bought in 1946 from Walter Manz for $4,500. A $70,000 bond was passed, but it was found that this was not enough to build the two rooms and gymnasium that had been planned on. In June, 1947 an additional $62,000 bond was passed. Again, the cost had been underestimated and the gymnasium could not be built.

Architect for the 1947 building was Leo Strelka, who designed St. Peter's Church in Antioch. The contractor was John Hess & Son.

This year, finally, Grass Lake School has built its long-planned-for gym, just 100 years after the first school was established in the area.

Time To Winterize The Family Car

Among its many other connotations, fall means "change-over" if you drive where the weather can drop below freezing. Snappy temperatures, the smell of burning leaves, and the first patches of frost are strong hints to get the family car to the service station for winterizing.

What you should ask for: Antifreeze (unless you have air-cooled engine). Have it added—or just tested if your car has air conditioning and requires some antifreeze protection year-round. (Consult your car owner's manual.) Most major oil companies recommend and will guarantee this protection 5 to 10 degrees below the expected low. Be sure, too, if your car has a windshield-cleaning device that, for winter, the fluid in it also contains antifreeze.

An Oil Change. You'll need an all-weather oil or a single grade blended especially for winter. Single grade premium oils must be purchased by grade according to the season: medium-grade for fall or spring, heavier for summer, and lighter for winter. Again, follow the recom-

Hazards In The Home For Tired Toddlers

When you cook your family's next evening meal, beware. The hours before dinner can be a pressure cooker of danger to your youngsters. That's when the "late afternoon syndrome" of home accidents strikes. Researchers say the hours from 4 to 6 p.m. are the time of day when accidents are more likely to occur in the home, especially to pre-school children.

A new public service motion picture, "The Toddler's Hour of Hazard," has been produced to alert parents to the everyday home situations that accidentally kill 6,000 youngsters annually and injure a million more.

Produced in cooperation with The Children's Hospital Medical Center, Boston, "Toddler's Hours" illustrates emotional stresses in the hectic day of one typical family that explode into near tragedy for the toddler of the household. The movie focuses on the following eight major accident-producing situations and suggestions for overcoming them:

1. The hungry child. A hungry child will try to eat anything—including poisons. If he is especially hungry during the dangerous hours before the evening meal, give him a snack, even if it means delaying your dinner. It could prevent a needless accident.

2. Fatigue. A tired child is more accident prone and a tired mother is less capable of preventing accidents. Forget rigid nap schedules. When fatigue sets in, take naps.

3. Over-active Child. Continuing close supervision is the best safety answer for the quick moving youngster.

4. Ill or pregnant mother. When the mother is out of sorts, she should perform only essential duties and rest as much as possible.

5. Vacationing family. Children often need closer supervision than usual when in a strange environment away from home.

6. Unreliable babysitter. Children's accidents rise when babysitters neglect their responsibilities. Be sure your babysitter is reliable.

7. Quarreling Parents. Accidents are high in families in which parents argue frequently, especially in front of children. Youngsters are upset by their parents' quarrels. Try to keep arguments to a minimum and then out of hearing of the children.

8. Rapidly-developing child. Never underestimate your child's abilities. Parents whose children have been hurt in accidents frequently say, "He never did that before." Anticipate your toddler's ability to climb, walk, and "get into things."

Organizations interested in home safety may obtain "The Toddler's Hour of Hazard" on a free-loan basis by writing to the Information and Education Department, Aetna Life & Casualty, Hartford, Conn.

Army Needs More Nurses

The US Army urgently needs 500 more registered nurses to care for the increased number of men who have come into the Army since the build-up of forces, according to an announcement yesterday by Lt. Col. William M. Pullin, Commanding Officer, US Army, Recruiting District, which comprises 13 states including this one. Indicating the emphasis being placed on this project, Colonel Pullin said that every possible means is being used to get information to male and female registered nurses in order to meet the crucial requirement for 500. Recruiters on duty at all Army recruiting stations stand ready to give more details on the Army Nurse Corps and answer questions upon request.

Colonel Pullin stated that nurses have traditionally been among the first to respond to our country's call when their help was needed and he believes that this time will be no exception.

Raise Funds For Retarded Children

A door-to-door march in the Chicago area will open the appeal on November 7 of the Illinois Council for Mentally-Retarded Children. National Retarded Children's Week will be observed Nov. 14 to 25.

The goal for the Chicago area is $125,000. The funds raised help to support various projects for the mentally retarded, including the Lake County Society for the Retarded, which operates a day center for children and sheltered work shop for adults at Bowen Park, in Waukegan.

There are 5 1/2 million retarded in the United States. An estimated 302,500 retarded live in Illinois. In 1966, it is estimated, there will be 7,000 more children born in Illinois who will be retarded.

A fourth marriage is the triumph of hope over experience.

lives in attendance.

Den 3 presented the closing ceremony, a song that sounded like it was being sung about a cat, but turned out to be a "pussy-willow." Props were a black and white cotton cat, three feet high and about 400 feet wide, made by Mrs. Huntington. It was decorated with sequin eyes, a red tongue and a large pink bow. It was so nice, that it is on display in the window of the Hooper school on Beck road. A skunk, also used in the play, was also made by Mrs. Huntington.

The boys played games and dunked for apples, then filled up on cup cakes made by Mrs. Bouces, Mrs. Wismer and Mrs. DuMello.

Mrs. Huntington surprised her den with a Halloween party Tuesday afternoon. It was a real old fashioned Halloween party with the boys trying to eat apples tied on a string hanging from the ceiling, dunking for apples and doing stunts that they drew from a hat. Such as telling jokes, singing, dancing or doing a stunt. The boys were treated to a decorated cake, ice cream, taffy, apples and pumpkin face suckers. This was all paid for by her.

Mrs. Dee Flint assisted Mrs. Huntington with the party. The boys in the den are Larry Piefer, Jeff Flint, Ricky Myslinski, Gary Thompson, Steven Coles, Bruce Nauer, Keith Weber, Danny Huntington, Scotty LaChance and David Sorenson.

Brownie Troop 126 held an investiture ceremony last Tuesday at the Hooper School. Invested by Mrs. Joyce Maloney were Karyn Wisner, Joyce Bittner, Susan Mattson, Karen Kristofferson, Robin Manicki, Mary Bourque, Maureen Maloney and Sharon Kurzin. Two mothers also were invested, Mrs. Norma Gibbs as co-leader, and Mrs. Dorothy Kovanda as committee woman. Mrs. Nancy DiGiovanni was to have been invested as treasurer and honorary Girl Scout, but she was unable to attend, due to a brain concussion she suffered in an auto accident the Friday before.

The color guard for this month is Gail Malony, Karen Schriver, Janice Bittner and Debbie DiGiovanni. Each month they rotate, giving all the 25 Brownies a chance to be in the color guard. The girls sang the "Three Little Angels" and "Brownie Song." After their refreshments of decorated cupcakes and Kool-ade, they turned the investiture into a Halloween party and played games. A junior leader is needed for the girls that flew up last spring. Anyone interested may call Mrs. Maloney or one of the other ladies for more information.

Yolanda's Hope-A Car By Christmas

Some time ago a little girl named Yolanda Maria Holtzee wrote a letter to the Editor asking for donations of green or plaid stamps.

Yolanda didn't want the stamps for herself—she's trying to get together enough to buy a car for the Sisters at St. Peter's Convent in Spring Grove.

Yolanda is nine years old. She lives in Bristol, Wis. She's not well, hence her gratitude to the Sisters at St. Peter's. They visit her frequently when she's ill.

She's carried on a one-girl letter campaign to gather the stamps, writing to newspapers and well-known personalities. Her campaign has been fairly successful. One thousand books were needed to get the new car—350 books are still needed.

Here's Yolanda's latest letter:

National Farm-City Week Nov. 19-25

It is an ancient truism that ignorance breeds suspicion, even enmity. That applies to the relationships of nations and their peoples. And it applies, to a considerable extent, to different groups within a nation.

On the other side of the coin, the road to understanding lies in knowledge. And this truth gives a deep significance to the annual observance of National Farm-City Week.

This year's observance will take place during the November 19-25 period. As in the past, businessmen will visit farms, and farmers will tour factories. Urban and rural young people will gather together. The schools and churches will lay stress on the Week and its purpose. Newspapers and other media will provide an invaluable aid by publicizing the Week and what it is intended to achieve. Clubs, civic organizations and all manner of other organizations will play their roles.

It would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of an observance such as this. In the complex, fast-moving world in which we live and work we tend to become totally immersed in our own concerns. We give too little thought to the problems, aspirations and achievements of others. So enmity and jealousies tend to arise.

From the modern farm, with its highly advanced production techniques, comes the meats, the vegetables, the fruits, the grains and dairy products that make us the best fed people on the earth. They are consumed, with gusto, in the towns and cities. The farmer and the urban dweller are partners in the broadest sense of the word. The more they know about each other, the better off the nation will be. And that is what makes National Farm-City Week so outstanding an event.

Mark Frerks Fund Up To $1,200

Charlie Haling reports that the Mark Frerks Fund is up to $1,200 since the receipt of money taken in at the dance sponsored by the Lake Villa VFW.

A little over $400 was realized from the dance. The $800 formerly reported in the fund included some of the pre-dance ticket sales.

The fund was started by Haling to help pay the hospital bill incurred by little Mark Frerks, burned in June by the explosion of gasoline.

ter. Dear People:

My Sisters from Spring Grove are pretty near their goal to get the car they've longed for, but still need about 350 books of S&H Stamps or Plaid stamps. Please open up your good hearts and help me make the Sisters' Christmas a happy one by sending whatever you can in stamps. Any cash donations should be made out to Sister Claire Marie. Thank you all and God bless you.

Your little neighbor,

Project Head Start Benefits Children

The State of Illinois ranked second in the nation for the number of pre-school children who were benefited from Project Head Start during the eight-week summer school vacation period, Thomas C. Jackson, director of the Illinois Office of Economic Opportunity, has announced.

A total of 33,924 boys and girls attended pre-school classes and participated in the Illinois Head Start program. Illinois was second only to the State of New York where 38,108 children received pre-school training.

The Head Start program is designed to help prepare underprivileged pre-school children for elementary school education. Total cost of the program in Illinois was $5,126,668. Of this amount $4,568,175 was federal funds, while $558,493 was the value of the local contributions. Jackson said that all the local Head Start contributions which exceeded the necessary 10 per cent. were made "in kind," not in cash.

Local agencies operating Head Start programs contributed their share in services, classroom facilities and volunteer help. A total of 2,838 volunteers assisted in the Head Start program in 324 centers.

Sequoits Lose To Warren, 31-6

Relying almost entirely on their ground game, Warren's Blue Devils completely overpowered Antioch's Sequoits Friday night at Gurnee and kept their title hopes alive with a 31 to 6 win.

Sharp tackling and good blocking in the line stymied the Sequoit offense and rolled up over 300 yards rushing from their double-wing offense.

Antioch's troubles began early in the contest when Bill Bouma picked off Tom Blackman's pass intended for Mike Sterbenz. Nine plays later Lance Balberg broke off tackle from the Sequoit 22-yard line and raced in for Warren's first TD.

The Blue Devils drove 72 yards in a sustained march later in the quarter to tally their next TD. Bouma drove over from Antioch's one yard line for the score. Late in the second period Warren again tallied when Sid Williams broke loose and went 39 yards for the TD. The half ended with Warren leading 18 to 0.

Warren continued to dominate the game in the second half, scoring in the third period on a 22 yard scamper by Jeff Clink and then again in the fourth quarter with a 72-yard run by Williams after

The Sequoits' only score came late in the third quarter when Mike Sterbenz took a pass from Don Zeman and went 20 yards for the TD.

The Sequoits, lacking the spirit and drive they have shown in previous games, failing to get their high scoring offense moving.

Antioch will host Lake Zurich Saturday in their season finale. A victory by the Sequoits would give them a season's record of 5 and 3.

Bill Sheldon breaks out of this tackle Friday night and picks up some extra yardage in the Sequoits game with Warren. The Sequoits lost the contest 31 to 6.

Grass Lake Proud Of Football Team

Grass Lake School is proud of its football team this year—they've won the four games they've played so far.

This year, for the first time in recent years, Grass Lake has a team comprised entirely of students from their own school. For the past several years, Grass Lake teams have been associated with Lotus School because of their lack of gym facilities and so that they could compete with larger schools.

This year's team, under the coaching of Bruce Worswick, has responded to their new opportunity by winning their first four games.

Coach Worswick says that although the victories are due to fine team effort, a few players deserve some special mention.

Leadership on the field comes from their alternating quarterbacks, Keith Church and John Schaefer. Along with a great split end, John Holmes, and a hard-blocking offensive line, they form the backbone of the offensive team.

On defense, such boys as Rolly Cooper, Jim Albright and Al Boston help keep the pressure on the opposing team. Many times during the season opposing teams have lost the ball without gaining a first down and the defense has only given up as many as two touchdowns in one game.

"I'm proud of the team," Coach Worswick said, "and I hope that the boys' parents and friends will come to see the remaining games."

Fewer Ducks In Illinois

Duck population in the Illinois and Mississippi River Valleys was not as high for the opening day of the 1965 hunting season as on opening day in 1964, the Illinois Department of Conservation has announced.

Duck season began at sunrise Saturday, Oct. 30, and ends at sunset, Wednesday, Dec. 8. Hunting hours are from sunrise until sunset every day. The daily bag limit is four ducks, but this total may not include more than one mallard, one pintail, two wood ducks, or two canvasbacks. The possession limit after opening day is eight ducks but not more than two mallards, two pintails, two wood ducks, or two canvasbacks may be held in possession.

About 37,500 ducks were in the Illinois River Valley, Monday, Oct. 25; 28,700 were above Peoria and 58,800 below Peoria. This is fewer ducks than were seen during a flight on Oct. 18. On Oct. 25 about 58,000 mallards, 20,000 pintails, 2,500 green-wing teal, 1,100 American widgeons and 3,200 ring-neck ducks were counted. During the same week of October last year, 161,000 mallards, 8,500 pintails, 23,000 green-wings, 9,200 widgeons and 1,000 gadwalls were observed in Illinois.

In 1964 there were about 213,000 ducks on the Mississippi the first day of the season, 49,200 more than were counted during the last census flight this October.

Grayslake Keeps Unblemished Record

Grayslake maintained their unblemished record Saturday by beating Lake Zurich 27 to 0. The win clinched at least a share of the Northwest Suburban Football title.

Dave Subject scored three touchdowns as the Rams rolled up an impressive 274 yards from scrimmage.

Grant also maintained their position in the standings and are still hoping for a share of the title. The Bulldogs registered in every quarter Saturday, beating Wauconda 27 to 7. A Grant win this Saturday and a Warren victory over Grayslake would mean a three way tie for the Conference.

In other conference action, Lake Forest came up with the winning combination, ending a six game losing streak by beating their hosts, Round Lake, 27 to 13.

Northwest Suburban Conference Standings

Warren	5 1
Grant	5 1

Turkey Shoot Next Sunday

The big shoot of the year, the Northern Illinois Conservation Club's 4th annual Turkey Shoot goes off with a big bang, Sunday, November 7, at the club's extensive grounds off Route 173, three miles west of Antioch.

This meet, coming as it does just prior to the opening of the upland hunting season, has come to be known as the hottest shoot in the area, and attracts gunners from all over the northern third of the state as well as southern Wisconsin.

Not only does it give hunters an opportunity to sharpen up their shooting eye, it assures them that they'll be able to bring home "meat" to fill the larder, and a turkey for the Thanksgiving holiday feast. To insure this, the club's rule that winners shoot only against winners will be strictly enforced. This permits non-winners to shoot in their own class, against non-winners, and gives them an equal chance of bringing home meat, even though they are not top marksmen.

Goal of the expected 700 to 800 shooters are plump young turkeys, fat tender ducks and mouth watering rock cornish hens.

At stake is the non-existent title of "hot-shot" which promises to be fiercely contested between contingents from Grass Lake, Petite Lake, Antioch, Channel Lake, Loon Lake and Deer Lake areas. Even the Haling clan is muttering in their whiskers about knocking off the upstarts—who dare challenge their prowess with the smooth-bore.

Ammunition and hot refreshments will be on tap all day, and non-shooting visitors are invited to come out and see what the shooting is all about and to tour the grounds and see the NICC Conservation program in action.

Shooting starts at 9 a.m. and will continue until dark. There is plenty of parking space and it is free.

All of the net proceeds will be used in continuing the NICC conservation and youth education program.

Warren Hands Soph Squad First Loss

Coach Andy Hauptman's sophomore eleven suffered their first defeat of the season Friday night, losing to Warren 20 to 14 at Gurnee.

A recovered fumble deep in Antioch territory and two blocked punts by the Blue Devils spelled the difference. The Sequoits maintained control throughout most of the game—picking up 206 yards to 112 for Warren.

The Sequoits failed to take advantage of a break early in the game when they recovered a Warren fumble on the opening kickoff on the Blue Devils' 27 yard line. Four plays later Warren took over on their 28-yard line.

The first score came late in the first period when Warren blocked a Sequoit punt and recovered on Antioch's 37 yard line. It took the Blue Devils only four plays to score.

The Sequoits struck back quickly, however. Taking the kickoff on their own 49-yard line, they drove 51 yards in ten plays. Dave Camp topped the drive with an 8-yard run around end for the TD. Bill Nader drove over for the PAT and the Sequoits led at half, 7 to 6.

Antioch took the lead briefly in the third period when Dave Camp registered his second TD with a three yard plunge after a march 50 yards.

Warren recovered an Antioch fumble late in the third period on the Sequoit 47-yard line to set up for their second TD. The Blue Devils drive 43 yards in seven plays to make the score 14 to 13 with the Sequoits still leading.

Another blocked punt gave Warren the ball on the Sequoits' 20-yard line. Six plays later Warren took the lead 20 to 14.

Duck Hunters Turn To Hunting Decoys

BY HARRY H. STERN

In the fall, about the time the black-eyed susan fades and turns brown, a strange malady affects certain men in the community. They get a wild look in their eyes; make strange sounds by blowing into a hollowed-out piece of wood with a thin flap of plastic or beryllium copper (called a reed) in its innards; spend too much time out in the marsh cutting weeds and attaching them to a fabrication of slats of wood called a blind, and they come home smelling like an Indian who has been pickled in an ethyl solution. Their conversation is mostly about blocks, stools, rigs and retrievers. Some of them even grow a beard and let their hair grow long and matted (not unlike the Beatles) to make themselves more invisible to the quarry.

For yeal the wildfowling season is soon upon us; and it will strike down some among us as surely and as virulently as the flu bug does some, and the ragweed pollen does others. But have no fears, girls. The infection will pass with the closing of the duck season and your guy will return to normal—normal being "as he was before," until the next year.

Duck hunters are a fraternity with a very strong loyalty to their guild. They'll work themselves almost to exhaustion in preparations preliminary to getting in a few shots at a parcel of poor unsuspecting birds who are just trying to get out of the cold.

Their hands will turn raw and get frostbitten as they put out their "blocks" (decoy ducks, girls) in suitable stools every morning before the shoot, and taking them in again in the evening after the day's shooting closes down. This is very important in the taking of ducks, for a hunter must set out an enticing rig with from 8 to 10 dozens of decoys if he is to lure one of these "Einsteins" (smart old ducks, girls) within the range of his gun. And the pattern in which they are set out, as well as the species used, is all important; and it changes from day to day, even as does the wind. Of course the decoys must look as natural as the real McCoy, say some, whereas others vehemently insist that these same smarties can be fooled into their demise by just a rough imitation.

One group of wildfowlers uses the old market hunters' "pipe" decoy set-up, consisting of goose, duck and coot decoys. In this system, decoys are placed on the water in the form of a calabash pipe, with the bowl in front and to the side of the hunter's blind, with the stem going almost straight away. Another set-up is known as the pot-hole spread, and has nothing to do with pots. Still another school of thought just tosses their blocks out on the water helter skelter, with no special form or pattern. What do these dumb birds know about the high price of sesame seed in Ethiopia.

There is no gainsaying the fact that the best results will be obtained by using 120 or more decoys in a stool, which at $24 a dozen comes to a neat $240, just to bag a certain assortment of ducks, as decreed by the powers that be in Washington, with a super-market value of about ten dollars. But don't knock it, girls; they could be with some femme whose morals are a bit less than admirable. The cost could be the same, or more, with no ducks to clean and pick the shot out of. Decoys are made of wood, papier-mache, tenite, styrofoam or other types of plastic; solid or hollow; some in feeding attitude, some asleep and some just bobbing around in the waves getting waterlogged. They are made in imitation of every species of duck in the directory, the most popular in use being mallard, pintail, bluebill, black duck (oftentimes erroneously called black mallard), canvasback, baldpate, coot and Canada goose. The 20 to 30 dollar-a-dozen variety are "factory made". There are artisans around the country who turn out hand made works of art, with exceptionally fine detail carved in, for that much for just ONE decoy, with more demand for the product than can be satisfied. In fact these works, referred to as "Floating Sculpture", are so good they are never allowed to get wet in a marsh, or any place else, let alone shot over. They wind up on a (continued on page 8) mantel in the den or in a collection. Most likely the latter.

Duck Hunters...

And this brings us up to another type of wildfowler: the decoy collector.

It was inevitable that some wildfowlers would, sooner or later, in appreciation of the genius of some of these "sculptors of wood" take to collecting their works, as a true art form, which it is.

Currently there are some 300 serious decoy duck collectors in this country, plus another undetermined number who just dabble in it occasionally. Most, if not all of these buffs are, or were, ardent duck hunters who just dabble in it occasionally. Most, if not all of these buffs are, or were, ardent duck hunters who were attracted to these pieces of art through the extensive use of decoy ducks in the pursuit of their sport.

The fraternity of wildfowlers includes members of all the professions and levels of our society, including bankers, lawyers, doctors, business men, scientists, barbers, truck drivers, resort owners, as well as ne'er do wells, to name just a few.

It follows naturally that a love of nature would be a fringe benefit to duck hunting, and with it a certain awareness of the art connected with it.

Locally, Bill Brook was one of the first to collect decoys. His primary reason was to preserve a heritage of the area, represented by the old time resort owners.

Practically all of these old timers, catered to the duck hunter, supplying him his boat, blocks and a certain old-country "gemutlichkeit." Such personalities as Johnson of Bluff Lake; Simons, Petite Lake; the Bock Brothers, Lake Catherine; Dressel, Lake Marie; Haling, Pregoner, Selter, Rother, Hanahan, Jackson, Smith, Schueneman, and Shunneson, Grass Lake, were well known for the quality of their hospitality.

These entrepreneurs branded their name onto their decoys to avoid mix-ups and loss. And so Bill made it his mission to collect at least one decoy with the brand of each one of these old timers. It wasn't easy, since these men are gone from the scene, but he did succeed to a satisfactory degree.

He now mainly collects the hand-carved works, of the modern decoy maker, which are known as "decoyatives" in the full size, and "miniature decoyatives" in the smaller sizes.

Ben Shostak, Petite Lake, has gone into decoy collecting on a more ambitious scale, and his collection includes the works of almost all of the old masters of the 1800's, including Mason and Dodge of Detroit; Stevens of Woodport; Pratt of Chicago; Perlow of Henry; Dudley, Elliston, Evans and others.

Ben has become so proficient at his avocation that he can recognize the unsigned works of all of these old timers much the same as art experts can recognize the works of DaVinci, Michelangelo, Van Gogh and others of that stripe.

His collection consists of about 175 good antiques, in the original paint, with another 200 which he uses for making trades. Quite often he gets some decoys that have been painted over. This makes them valueless unless this top coat of paint can be removed without harming the original coat underneath. Ben has already spent countless hours on a single decoy, gently and patiently scraping away unwanted paint.

Oddly enough, he got into the collecting gambit by seeking out old decoys for Bill Brook, and then for Al Reese of Chicago. Being very contagious, it infected Ben and he too was now in it.

He also collects modern decoyatives from such men as John, Nieman, Bob Weeks, Clarence Miller, Steve and Lem Ward, Bob Kerr, J. J. West, and C. W. Miller, to name but a few.

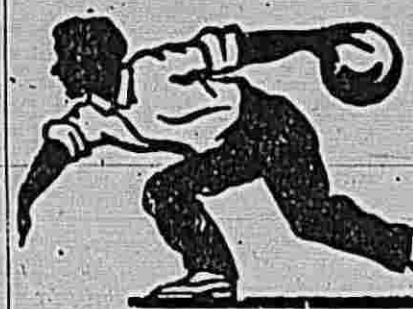

Ben also collects primitives, but these are scarce as hen's teeth and even harder to come by.

As a means of channeling information to their hobby,

Hal Sorenson, also a collector, began publishing a bulletin called the Decoy Collector's Guide in Burlington, Iowa, in January of 1963, and already every copy of every edition has become a collector's item.

As to the current hunting season, Ben says the teal hunting was good, if the hunter was in marsh. Grass Lake didn't produce much teal shooting because all of the marsh around it is "preserved" and off limits to the gunner.

He also noted that mallards and other dabbling duck numbers are way down in comparison to last year, while canvasbacks, red head, blue bill and other diving ducks are more numerous. Goose numbers have increased smartly.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS 8

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1965

Fall days mean fewer hours, and that means trickier driving conditions during the late afternoon and early evening. The time when afternoon sun fades into evening is a dangerous period for motorists. Visibility is not as good as it sometimes seems, and the low sun creates a glare problem. Be extra alert during twilight hours.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CARD OF THANKS
Congratulations to Lake Villa's V.F.W. for the wonderful time they showed us at their Halloween party Saturday night.

A word of praise should go to the committee who did the decorations. It sure was a work of art and surely must have taken a lot of work and time. A word of praise should go to those people.

Also to the women who served those delicious beef sandwiches.

A Big Hand to the V.F.W. for being so nice and showing their friends such a good time.

It's been a long time since I have seen a crowd of people so happy and friendly as they were at the party. Both young and old mixed and it seemed everybody was having a good time.

It must have been a good time when the people didn't want to go home that they kept asking the orchestra to stay later.

A Word of Thanks to the orchestra, too. They sure were good. No matter what anybody asked them to play, they would play. They sure do deserve a big hand.

They sure did keep the Halloween Gang in good spirits. Congratulations to you boys in the band.

Again a word of appreciation to the group of Lake Villa V.F.W. for the wonderful time we had.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve McNichols
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zeilten
Mrs. Carrie Lawrence

Mrs. Edith Hackler and Raymond Hackler were divorced October 26th. I shall be responsible for my own debts only.

GOP Sponsors Musical Program

Fourteen prominent Republican women have been named to help direct the sales of tickets for the United Republican Fund's GOP Spectacular on Tuesday evening, Nov. 9, at the Arie Crown Theatre in McCormick Place. The program will star Lawrence Welk, his orchestra, and the entire cast of his network television show.

This is the first time in the history of the United Republican Fund that it has turned to a "musical extravaganza" to raise funds, according to Fund president Fred M. Gillies.

Among the feature attractions for this gala event are the Lennon Sisters, a group of attractive girls who have captured the hearts of listeners across the land, not only for their singing ability but for their charm.

The Lennon Sisters were discovered by Lawrence Welk, Jr., and they made their first appearance on the Welk show on Christmas Eve, 1955. The flood of mail that followed that appearance brought them a contract as regulars on the show. When Dianne, the oldest of the girls, married, the quartet became a trio. The group has continued in popularity through the years and today stand as one of the featured acts which make the weekly TV show a delight to millions of fans across the nation.

Tickets may be obtained from any of the fourteen women on the committee, or at the box office at Arie Crown Theatre.

Children's Film Series Sponsored By Music Center

Mrs. Wendy Blumberg, ways and means chairman of the Women's Auxiliary of the Music Center of Lake County, Inc., suggests that a special way to celebrate a children's party is to take the children to one of the children's film series sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Music Center of Lake County. She also suggested that the buying of a series ticket could be a much-appreciated gift for birthdays or Christmas.

The films are shown at 10:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Waukegan High School's west campus.

Movies to be shown Nov. 6 are A Chairy Hale, Many Moons, Circle of the Sun and Gerald McBoing-Boing.

Profits from the movies help support the not-for-profit music center which offers instruction and classes in many subjects and individual musical instruments.

Now-buy a new electric dryer and save up to $60

LIMITED-TIME OFFER

You'll receive a special $20 cash bonus directly from Commonwealth Edison in addition to the savings of up to $40 you normally expect when you buy an electric dryer instead of a gas dryer.

And look what you'll get besides savings. You'll own a dryer that gives you the same kind of gentle, radiant heat you get from the sun. Whites stay white, colors stay bright, sizes won't change because of harsh overdrying or scorching.

Another thing. Electric dryers are flameless—so there are no fumes or by-products of combustion. Clothes come out clean and fresh as all outdoors.

Bonus: You can operate an electric dryer in your home for only $1.25 a month.*

See your appliance dealer for the money-saving details now. No down-payment. Satisfaction guaranteed on any flameless electric dryer sold. But better hurry—offer is limited.
